

Travis Anderson – Partner, TBH Global Asset Management. Anderson is responsible for the fiduciary aspects of managing multi-million dollar portfolios for trusts, estates, high net worth individuals, corporations and non-profits.

Anderson's leadership activities in the areas of business and industry, government, and community volunteerism include: United Way of Williamson County, Loaned Executive, Medius Member, Past Board Member and Past Medius President; member, Franklin United Methodist Church, Great Day of Service participant and Wesley Small Group Member; Volunteer Athletic Scholarship Foundation, active member and supporter; Williamson County-Franklin Chamber of Commerce, member; and Williamson County CASA.

As a Williamson County native, Anderson wants to build upon the foundation of past generations of leadership a community that is more vibrant, richer and enhanced for his children and generations to come. He feels the ability to have access to information that describes the layout of the local municipalities and how they interact with each other on the local, regional and state levels would be beneficial to all.

Anderson holds a Bachelor of School degree in Finance from the University of Tennessee. He obtained his M.B.A. degree from Middle Tennessee State University, graduating Summa Cum Laude. Additionally, he completed a three-year program at Southern Trust School, a specialty school for trusts and obtained his Certified Trust and Financial Advisor designation. Of his upcoming Leadership Franklin experience, Anderson states: "I hope to learn how the private sector interacts with the public sector. Also, how small businesses and non-profits create niches in the area and survive in a competitive landscape. I hope my business acumen and general history coupled with my passion contribute to a great discussion on how to move Franklin forward."
